

Prior to fabricating the transfer cars, DynaIndustrial's engineering time redesigned them to include improvements to allow easier access for maintenance. Looking to increase productivity, argon stir systems can also be installed directly to the ladle and transfer cars.

